

International Organisation for Biological Control (IOBC)

Organisation Internationale de Lutte Biologique (OILB)

IOBC YOUNG SCIENTIST AWARDS

IOBC IS OFFERING SPONSORSHIP TO ATTEND THE AUSTRALIAN ENTOMOLOGICAL SOCIETY CONFERENCE 28 SEP – 1 OCT 2014 IN CANBERRA

The International Organization for Biological Control (IOBC) was established in 1955 as a global organization affiliated to the International Council of Scientific Unions (ICSU).

IOBC promotes environmentally safe methods of pest and disease control and the development of biological control and its application in integrated pest management programs, and international cooperation to these ends.

The Asia-Pacific Regional Section (APRS) of the IOBC would like to invite applications from young scientists for sponsorship to attend the Australian Entomological Society Conference, 28 Sep – 1 Oct 2014 in Canberra <http://www.aesconferences.com.au/>
APRS are organizing a symposium at the conference on ‘Biological control in the Asia-Pacific Region: highlights from the last 50 years and emerging issues for the future.’

To qualify for IOBC support, applicants must be:

A member of IOBC; to join now contact: groentemanr@landcareresearch.co.nz

Less than 35 years of age

Presenting a paper or poster on biological control or a related IPM topic

Successful candidates will receive up to 500 Euros (approx. $Aus 750; $NZ 800) per successful candidate, and we hope to make up to 5 awards. The funds are intended to be used to support conference registration, travel, accommodation. To apply for IOBC sponsorship please send a title for your talk/poster, a conference abstract and your CV (incl. date of birth) to:

Dr Barbara Barratt (Secretary General APRS – IOBC)

barbara.barratt@agresearch.co.nz

AgResearch Invermay, Private Bag 50034, Mosgiel, NZ

Phone: +64 3 489 9059